How the K sound is made

Tongue tip stays down, behind the bottom teeth.

The back of the tongue lifts up to the back of the mouth.

It is a quiet sound: a short puff of air, no voice.

Hear “tat” for “cat”? That is common. Say: “Tip down, back up.”

How to use

Start when the child can say K on its own, or in some words, with help.

Name each picture together first, with the word printed under it.

You say it, the child copies. Later, the child says it alone.

Short and often is better than long. Stop while it is still fun.

If the child often seems not to hear, check hearing first.

This is practice, not a test. It cannot diagnose a speech problem.

Worried? Talk to a speech-language pathologist.
