How to use

You need one crayon and a pencil. Name the pictures together first.
A where answer is a place: “At the park.” “In the kitchen.”
If the child names a person or a thing, say “Where is a place,” then model it: “At the library.” Let the child say it again.
Upside-down words are for the adult sitting across the table.
Any real place is right: some families shop at a market.
If the child often seems not to hear, check hearing first.
This is practice, not a test. It cannot diagnose a language problem.
Worried? Talk to a speech-language pathologist.
